COUNCIL WANTS A SANE FOURTH

Ordinance Introduced Tuesday Night Prohibits Sale and Shooting of Fireworks in City.

STREET OILING QUESTION

City Attorney Instructed to Draw
up Ordinance But One Council-
man is Opposed to it.

A safe and sane Fourth of July is assured Rushville if an ordinance regarding the sale and shooting of fireworks introduced last night at the regular council meeting becomes a law. The ordinance as introduced will be a fine thing for the person wanting quiet but hits the "kids" and the man selling fireworks.

The ordinance absolutely forbids the firing of any crackers, rockets, torpedoes, canes, or any other of the various varieties within the city limits and makes it equally as unlawful for a person, firm or corporation to keep and offer for sale any kind of fireworks.

Councilman Brann stated that there was no use for the council passing the ordinance unless it expected to live up to it and he was in favor of passing it last night. A motion to suspend the rules was lost because it failed to get the two-thirds vote. Councilmen Seudder and Mauzy voting against it. The ordinance will be allowed to take the usual channels.

The ordinance is patterned after those sent out by the state fire marshal and the only way the city can have fire works is at a public display and then it will be necessary for the person expecting to put it on to make written application to the council. Under the provisions of the ordinance even red fire at a political meeting is not allowed, and to have this kind of a demonstration it would be necessary to get permission from the city.

The ordinance, as introduced, provides that the "discharging, firing and use of all firecrackers, rockets, torpedoes, roman candles, other fire works or substance designed and intended for pyrotechnical display and all pistols, canes, cannons, and other appliances using blank cartridges or caps containing chlorate of potash mixture" is unlawful, but provides that the council can grant a permit for a public display.

The ordinance also makes it unlawful "for any person, firm or corporation to keep or exhibit for sale at retail or wholesale any fireworks, fire crackers, rockets, torpedoes, roman candles or pistols and guns." The ordinance provides a fine of not less than $10 and not more than $25 and states that in case of storage of fire works by a firm, person or corporation each day shall be held a separate offense.

A big fight is likely to develop in the council over the street oiling for next spring. The council voted last night to instruct the city attorney to draw up an oiling ordinance and when this ordinance comes up the fight will start. The ordinance is opposed by Councilman Brann, who states that he has had enough of the oiling business and that if the people want oiling let them do it themselves. Council Brann is in favor of establishing a small tax levy next fall for this purpose and pay for the oiling out of the general fund.

The position of Councilman Brann is that the people of the city got "stung" on the last oiling and the city was put to more trouble than it was worth. There is still $890 out yet from the oiling last year. The city is not responsible for this and the contractor will have to look to the property owners for his money.

NINE MEN ARE CREMATED

Explosion of Gas Stove Causes Fire
in a Bunk House.

(By United Press.)

Warren, Pa., Feb. 3.—Nine men were cremated at Mayburg, thirty miles south of here, early today when the two story frame bunk house of the Tinesta Valley Chemical company burned down as the result of an explosion of a gas stove. Six others were injured, two of them fatally. All were foreigners employed in cutting wood and extracting certain chemicals.

TO FIGHT CHOLERA SERUM MEASURE

Expected Hundred Farmers Will go to Indianapolis Tomorrow For Public Hearing.

ENDORSE JINNETT'S STAND

The hog cholera serum bill, now before the legislature will be given a public hearing by the committee tomorrow, and if all counties in the state express their opinion of the bill as will Rush county there can be little doubt in the minds of the committee as to how the farmers regard the bill.

It is expected that at least one hundred farmers from Rush county will go to Indianapolis to attend the public hearing. The farmers here are opposed to the bill in no uncertain terms and regardless of politics have endorsed the stand taken by Representative W. R. Jinnett. Jinnett proposes to fight the bill to the last ditch. The farmers here believe that the bill tends too much towards a monopoly in that it would have vaccination of hogs done only by veterinarians.

The delegation from Rush county intends to get a hearing before the committee and will do all it can to help defeat the proposed law.

IDEAL HUSKER SUIT. POSTPONED TODAY

Case in Which Mrs. Alberta M.
Walker is Seeking a Receiver Put Off Because of Sickness.

SPRINGER WILL BE THE JUDGE

The case of Mrs. Alberta M. Walker against the Ideal Husker company, set for today, was postponed until March 2 on motion of the defendant. One of the principal witnesses for the husker company is ill and it was necessary to postpone the case. Mrs. Walker seeks to have a receiver appointed alleging that the company is insolvent. Raymond Springer of Connersville is to act as special judge in this case.

Judge Sparks announced this morning that he had also appointed Springer to act as judge in all the cases involving A. P. Walker and the Farmers Trust company. Under this ruling Springer will act as judge in the cases of Tyler against Walker, LaSeur against Walker, Walker against the Farmers Trust company, Walker against Irvin and Fisher against Fletcher.

LIBRARY SETS SOME RECORDS

Largest Number of Books Ever
Loaned Was in January, Librarian's Report Reveals

LAST SATURDAY BIGGEST DAY

Reeves Library is Given to City Institution—Lighting Question
Up Again

Increasing popularity of the city library in the court house is revealed by the annual as well as monthly report of the librarian, Miss Mary Sleeth, to the library board at its regular monthly meeting in the library last night. All records for the local library were broken during the month of January.

It was also announced today by the librarian that Earl Reeves had donated to the library practically the whole library of his father, the late J. B. Reeves. Although the librarian has not yet had time to count the books because they have just been delivered and are piled haphazardly in one of the small rooms opening into the library, a conservative estimate places the number at two hundred volumes. There are many valuable books in the collection and Miss Sleeth said they were immensely appreciated.

From December, 1913 to December, 1914, according to the annual report which has just been compiled by Miss Sleeth, thirteen thousand, seven hundred and twenty-seven books have been loaned out of the Rushville library, which is an average of forty-four books a day. That is a very high average for the year. This does not account for the hundreds of magazines which have been loaned. There are no records of those transactions.

But it was in January, the month just closed, where new records were established for the Rushville library. There was an average of dsantyp.e one-half books a day loaned. And besides, last Saturday, the last day of the month the library was open, was by far the largest day the library ever enjoyed. There were one hundred and seventy books loaned out that day. Miss Sleeth knew she had had a busy day when she closed the doors Saturday night. The simple fact that one hundred and seventy books were loaned does not represent the work the librarian had to do because there is an increasing number of persons each month who are looking for references on various subjects and who demand the time of the librarian.

There are now a total of two thousand, seven hundred and eighty-three books in the library, not including the Reeves gift, the librarian's monthly report shows.

January was the biggest month in the history of the library in other ways. More children's books that were not fiction were borrowed than ever before. There one hundred and sixteen books of this class loaned. This was gratifying to the library board and indicated the growing appreciation of the institution.

The question of who shall pay for lighting the library is again a question which is agitating the mind of some of the officials. The city of Rushville supports the library with a special tax but the library is open to the whole county and is used by people from all over the county. There is a rest room in conjunction with the library which is used by country women who come to Rushville. Miss Sleeth estimates that one-third of the library patrons are persons from outside the city.

When the library was established in the court house, it was felt it

MIGHT AFFECT THE LOCAL CASE

Senator Krau Introduces Bill to Make Petitioners for Local Option
Election Bear Expense.

LAST ONE HERE COST $350

Probable That before Petition for Election Here is Filed Measure
Will be Disposed Of.

If the liquor bill which was introduced in the Indiana general assembly yesterday in Indianapolis by Senator William P. Krau of Elkhart should happen to become a law, it would probably change the situation here as regards the approaching "wet" and "dry" election which has been anticipated because the bill seeks to place the burden of expense of conducting a local option election on the petitioners, whereas, under the present law, the expenses are paid out of the funds of the city or township in which the election is held.

The last election which was held March 3, 1913, cost the city of Rushville approximately three hundred and fifty dollars. In case the Krau bill should be passed in its present form by the legislature, the "wets" would have to deposit with the county commissioners, on filing their petition for an election, a sum equal to the costs of conducting the election. That means the sum which would have to be raised and deposited would be in the neighborhood of three hundred and fifty dollars.

The "wets" can not file their petition for an election before the March meeting of the county board of commissioners, which falls on Monday, the first day of the month. By that time the legislature will be near the end of its legal time to exist and it is probable that most of the bills introduced will be dealt with, so that the Krau measure will be either passed or killed by that time.

Senator Krau declared he believed the measure is equally fair to the "drys" and the "wets" in localities where there is a liquor fight, and that the bill seeks to carry out the spirit of other statutes where there is an election and under which, he pointed out, expenses are not paid out of the public treasury.

The bill seeks to re-enact Secs. 1, 8 and 10 of the present liquor statutes, and adds at the end of Sec. 1 that the petitioners who ask the board of county commissioners to hold an election shall deposit with the commissioners a sum equal to the cost of conducting such election. It also stipulates that where an election is carried twice successively by one faction there shall be no election in that territory again for six years.

Persons who are in touch with the affairs of the Indiana Brewers Association professed to know nothing of the bill.

"This rule to make the petitioner pay the expense of the election would be as fair for one side as for the other," said Senator Krau, in explaining the provisions of the bill.

"If the 'wets' desire an election they would be required to deposit the cost of conducting it with the commissioners, the same as the 'drys' would be. And the provision for restricting the number of elections is fair enough, I believe, as I can see no reason for bringing up the liquor question every two years, as is now done in a large number of localities. Under the proposed amendment if the 'drys' carry a district twice in succession the 'wets' could not bring the subject up again for six years and the 'drys' would be restricted if the 'wets' carried it."

the Legislature.

SANCTIONED BY THEM ALL

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3.—Women's organizations of Indiana joined today in a campaign for the passage of a bill at the present session of the legislature to grant partial suffrage to women. The proposed bill was endorsed this afternoon by the Legislative Council of Indiana Women on motion of Dr. Amelia Keller, president of the Women's Franchise League.

The action followed a similar endorsement of the bill at a meeting of district chairmen of the Women's Franchise League this morning. The endorsement of the council was held pending the approval of other Indiana women's suffrage organizations. The bill probably will be introduced tomorrow.

John Kern Says in Letter he is De-

MAY AFFECT PRIMARY BILL

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3.—Senator John W. Kern will not accompany Secretary Bryan when the latter comes here tomorrow to address the Indiana Democratic editors. In a letter received today by the Indiana bureau of the United Press, he said:

"On account of the Republican filibuster which is now obstructing all legislation it will be quite impossible for me to be in Indianapolis February 4. I hope, however, to come about ten days later."

There was speculation whether the delay of ten days would injure the Jones-Rinear primary bill which Kern is believed to favor.

NOT SO STRONG FOR ECONOMY

Senator E. C. Eikman Presents Bill
to Increase Salaries of Prosecutors in Other Circuits.

FOR REDUCTION IN MARION

Signed Minority Report Making Decrease in Case of Republican
Official Effective at Once.

Edward C. Eikman, who gives his home as New Palestine and his business address as 1010 Hume-Mansur building, Indianapolis and who is the accredited representative of the people of Hancock, Rush and Fayette counties in the state senate, yesterday introduced in the upper branch of the legislature in Indianapolis a bill to raise the salaries of prosecutors in a number of judicial circuits in Indiana.

This is the same Edward C. Eikman, Democrat, who, in the senate last Friday, together with Walter S. Chambers, senator from Henry and Madison counties, signed a minority report of the committee on fees and salaries on the Thornton bill to reduce the salary of the prosecutor of Marion county, a Republican who took office the first day of this year, and make it become effective at once.

Four members of the committee at that time maintained that reduction in the salary of the Marion county prosecutor should not become effective until the term of the present prosecutor expired because the state made an implied contract that the salary of the Marion county prosecutor should be a certain sum. The members of the committee who signed a majority report on the bill favoring it but not making it effective until the expiration of the present prosecutor's term felt that was the only fair thing to do.

Senator Eikman, however, remained firm in his stand for the minority report. At that time he was strong for economy and thought the Marion county prosecutor was receiving more than he deserved. His bill, however, would provide increases in salary of either $500 or $1,000 for a large number of prosecutors.

Senator Eikman's measure provides that in judicial circuits where there are three counties, the prosecutor shall receive a salary of $1,500 a year in addition to his fees, while prosecutors in circuits composed of two counties, would receive $1,000 instead of $500, in addition to their fees.

Eikman, in his speech a few days ago, made some mention of the fact that the fee system is not a good one. The bill introduced today would give prosecutors a fat raise in salary, but does not take away their fees.

Senator Eikman also introduced another bill. This bill would repeal the present law on the subject of libel and place newspapers and other publishers under the old law. While the present law requires that three days be given and publisher in which to retract alleged libelous remarks before suit is begun, the old law contains no such provision. The present law also specifically provides that a person may collect only actual damages done and specifies what are damages under the act. The old law contains no such provision and lays a publisher open to suits for damages in any amount.

Of How E. L. Marshall of Shreveport, La., Was Cured of a Stomach Trouble That Kept Him Out of Work for Months.

Shreveport, La.—"I had a bad stomach trouble for years and became so weak I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was very poor, then my food would not digest, I bloated and was very weak and nervous, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. I was so bad I could not work for months at a time. I tried too many remedies to name, but without help. I saw Vinol advertised and tried it, and soon noticed an improvement. I continued its use and now my stomach trouble is completely cured. I am a well man enjoying perfect health and have gained in weight."—E. L. MARSHALL, Shreveport, La.

The recovery of Mr. Marshall was due to the combined action of the medicinal tissue building elements of the extract of cod's livers, aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, contained in Vinol, which seldom fails to strengthen and tone up the tired, over-taxed and weakened nerves of the stomach and remove the trouble.

FLOUR IS FIVE CENTS A POUND

Wheat reached the highest price here in years yesterday when local millers were offering $1.57 a bushel for it. The price jumped back today and was quoted at $1.50. With the highest price offered in years there was very little wheat changed hands, the farmers evidently believing they will get their own price for the grain. As a result of the increase yesterday flour went up ten cents more on the sack. Twenty-four pound sacks were retailing at $1.20 and twelve pound sacks at sixty cents, making flour sell at five cents a pound. This is the highest price in years.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—May wheat today closed at $1.59 after having reached a new high record price of $1.66. The extreme fluctuation for the May wheat during the day of wild scenes on the board of trade was nine and one-quarter points per bushel.

The most riotous scenes witnessed on the board of trade since the famous Patten and Leiter deal occurred at today's opening when May wheat opened at $1.62, dropped to $1.56 within ten minutes and at the end of fifteen minutes had set a new high record, leaping to $1.65.

Traders on the floor acted like wild men. Spectators who crowded the galleries, caught the excitement and screamed with the howling brokers. The pit fairly seethed like a huge caldron of boiling human beings.

Bell's Bubble Burst.

From publicity that is being given Mayor Bell's effort to put through the present session of the Indiana legislature any of his pet legislation for Indianapolis to increase his own power, it is gleaned that he has slim chances although it was expected the machine whip would crack for his special bills. In one measure Bell proposed, it was provided that he be allowed to appoint a finance board for the city of Indianapolis which would have the power to determine the number of offices and employees of the city of Indianapolis not now provided for by law, and to fix their compensation; to annex or disannex territory, and to approve franchises or grand licenses.

This would be a fine little law that would place in the hands of one man the power to appoint a finance board that would wield so much influence. The members of the board would be in no way responsive to the wants of the people because they would be once removed from the people. That is one form of "representative" government that is a far cry to "direct democracy."

Some Good Suggestions.

An excellent recommendation is found in the report of the special committee from the lower house of the Indiana legislature which was appointed to investigate the situation in regard to the quarantine in Indiana as the result of the foot and mouth disease epidemic among live stock. Recommendation for legislation covering the question is made, but most important of all is the suggestion that here be incorporated in the proposed law a provision requiring immediate quarantine around a farm that is infected not to exceed 3 miles and so to restrict the passing by disinfection that the other territory surrounding will not feel the subsequent loss in prices, as now. It was also proposed that excessive charges and unnecessary officers be restricted when the quarantine is on.

These are very safe and sane suggestion that there be incorporated in by the legislature.

A correspondent from this city, in a communication to the Indianapolis News, calls attention to the common custom of referring to "deserving poor" whenever a charitable undertaking is under way. "What about the undeserving poor?" asks this person. "Don't they get cold and hungry? And who is to judge whether they need help?" The point is well taken and one that might be considered.

A statement issued by the Republican national committee shows that the Republicans cast more votes where national issues were involved than either the Democrats or Progressives. The compilation was made on the vote for United States senators and representatives in congress and not on the vote for governor or any other state officers. The vote was as follows: Republican, 5,915,270; Democrat, 5,752,580; Progressive, 1,474,234.

What the Solons Are Doing; Legislative Facts---By Expert

Prepared for the United Press by John A. Lapp, director of the Bureau of Legislative Information.

(Mr. Lapp will answer questions relating to the work of the Legislature, including legislative organization and methods, pending bills and enacted laws. Questions on the merits of men or measures will not be answered. To avoid delay address all questions direct to the United Press, 36 1/2 West Washington St., Indianapolis. Questions may be sent to the Daily Republican if preferred.)

A. B. Henderson writes—"How do bills introduced so far this session of the legislature compare in number with those introduced in a corresponding time during the 1913 session? About what proportion of the bills introduced usually pass?"

Reply—On the twenty-third day after the session began in the 1913 and 1915 sessions bills introduced were as follows:

1913—House bills, 361, Senate bills, 276, Total 637; 1915—House bills, 241, Senate bills 178, Total, 419.

About one-fourth of the bills introduced in other sessions have usually passed.

School Boy writes—"What is a

conference report? Do all bills face such a report?"

Reply—When one house passes a bill with amendments from the form in which it passed the other house, it becomes necessary to settle the differences. If the first house refuses to accept the amendments, a conference committee of two members from each house is appointed. This is called a conference report to their houses adjusting the differences. Each house can accept or refuse the conference report.

Tax Student writes—"What state approaches nearest the budget system in its financial methods? How is Indiana on this?"

Reply—Ohio has the most scientific budget system. Indiana has the beginnings of such a system in the legislative investigation committee which makes investigations and reports recommendations for appropriations.

ago. The Republicans ask how Rucker could pay 25 deputies out of the allowance of $7,500 made by the bill.

Assemblymen were brought face to face with hard times when they ordered figs at a local restaurant this week. The diners have been receiving four figs for a nickel, but orders apparently were changed, for when a waiter gave a customer four figs he was "called" by a head waiter and told figs were now three for a nickel.

Those who worry about the Indiana legislature being extravagant at times would probably be hysterical if they lived in Illinois. By constitutional provision the Indiana legislature ends at the expiration of sixty-one days. There seldom is a serious deadlock and organization is completed with dispatch. In Illinois, on the contrary, the legislature which convened shortly after the Indiana assembly, is still deadlocked on the speakership. It also was deadlocked in 1913—that time over both the speakership and the election of two senators. It can continue in session as long as it pleases. The expense to the state can be estimated when the statement of a legislator is remembered that the Indiana legislature costs the state at the rate of $5 a minute.

"The Illinois legislature's natural condition is that of deadlock," to quote Senator Sherman.

Councilman Brann stated last night that the law under which the oiling was done was tried out last year for the first time and that the people had enough taxation without putting this oiling on them. The ordinance will be fought to the end if it is introduced and the fight will be waged by Mr. Brann.

The city will likely face a law suit over the meter question. It is understood that John D. Megee will sue the city, making a test case out of it to determine whether the city has the right to charge for labor in putting in the meters. He filed a claim for work done in putting in two meters and the claim was turned down as usual. This was to be expected and the suit is likely to result. The city holds that it has the right to charge for the meters and the cost of installing them.

In case the court should hold the city did not have this right the city can charge as high as fifty cents a month meter rent under ruling of the public service commission. With a charge of fifty cents a month meter rent it would be cheaper in the long run to pay the cost of placing the meters. The city will make provision to charge meter rent in case it is denied the right to charge for the labor and the purchase of the meters.

The finance committee reported that the treasurer's reports for the

Central Delivery System

It is with pleasure that we, the undersigned merchants announce to our customers that we have contracted with the Benson Delivery Co., to establish a central delivery station in this city. We did this only after a thorough investigation in other cities where such systems are established. Wherever they are in operation, central delivery systems are meeting the approval of both merchants and patrons.

Central Delivery Starts Mon. February 15 ...What It Does....

CENTRAL DELIVERY enables the merchant to organize his working force and confine all his attention within the store, without worry about getting orders out on time, for the delivery is in charge of a responsible man, who will see that goods go out on schedule time. CENTRAL DELIVERY in no way prevents competition, as every merchant fixes his own prices.

CENTRAL DELIVERY will benefit customers, as they can place their orders and know just at what hour to expect the delivery wagon, by referring to their schedule.

With co-operation between merchants and customers, the new system will be a pleasure and a satisfaction to all concerned and we feel that we have solved a problem, that in the past, has required too much of the merchant's time that should have been devoted to matters within the store.

The new Central Station, under the management of E. E. Benson, is located at Morgan and Water streets in a new sanitary building, built especially for this purpose, and you are invited there at any time to see the careful handling of orders.

For an eleven o'clock dinner or merchandise wanted early, place your order in time for the eight o'clock delivery.

With your co-operation in the new system, we expect Rushville to have the best delivery service that has ever been given.

L. L. Allen Grocery

months of October, November and December were correct. The report of the treasurer for the month of January was referred to the finance committee.

The council took considerable time in paying bond coupons held by the banks and various persons.

Superintendent Mahin reported that the water and light plant was operating in good order. He stated that the first month's reading of the meters at the court house showed that the electric bill was around $50 and that the water bill amounted to over $25.

The ordinance for a paid fire department was not introduced. The city attorney hopes to have it ready by the next meeting.

A letter was read to the council from Mrs. Joseph Pugh and children expressing appreciation to the council for the floral tribute of the city given at the death of the late Joseph Pugh. The letter was made a matter of record and was as follows: "Accept, if you will, an expression of deepest appreciation and gratitude for the evidence of your love and respect for our husband and father, so beautifully typified by your floral tribute. May we think of you as composites of those men who in years past sat in councils, and have been his friends, and in thanking you thank them."

ST. PAUL BOXER
SHOWS UP BEST

Mike Gibbons Appears to be Best of Middleweights Despite Claims to Contrary.

DILLON IS ONE OF THESE

But Jack Has Not Been Doing Business in This Class But Says He Can Make the Weight

BY HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for United Press.)
New York, Feb. 3.—Mike Gibbons, the phantom-like boxer of St. Paul is the best middleweight in the business. Despite howls to the contrary from Eddie McGoorty, Jack Dillon, Jimmie Clabby, et al., the lad from Minnesota is the nearest thing to a real champion the fans have seen since the death of Stanley Ketchel. He doesn't stand heel and shoulders above his contemporaries, but he stands high enough that he can be easily recognized over their heads.

Before the Gibbons Clabby battle at Milwaukee several weeks ago, the Hammond boxer was considered about the cream of his division. He had a belt emblematic of the middleweight championship given him by Uncle Tom McCarey in San Francisco after he had beaten George Chip in twenty rounds.

But Clabby failed to show championship class in his battle with Gibbons. Mike was an easy winner, according to ringside reports and it was a real battle all the way. Clabby's friends argue that he can't lose his prestige in ten rounds, but Gibbons so clearly outfought him in ten that its a safe bet he could also do it in twenty.

Two men remain to be disposed of before Mike's claim to the crown is to be absolutely unquestioned. They are Eddie McGoorty, the Oshkosh bear, and Jack Dillon.

Dillon hasn't been doing much business with the middleweights recently and the cry has gone up that the Hoosier can't make the weight. But Dillon contends he can and offers to prove it is the occasion demands. In a recent bout with Porky Flynn over in Brooklyn, Jack weighed 169 pounds and was so strong that he all but knocked the Boston battler through the ropes for a long sleep. If Jack can make the figure he certainly should be given a chance at Gibbons.

McGoorty can probably make the weight with ease. And the Oshkosh entry has certainly proven that he is a contender.

So, if Mr. Gibbons will just go on and clean up the situation by disposing or exposing these two, the boxing game will have its first unquestioned 158 pound king since 1911.

TAX AMENDMENT
MEETS APPROVAL

This One of Stotesenberg Bills Understood to be Satisfactory to State Association

NOT WELL KNOWN OVER STATE

Provides That Legislature May Classify Property for Purposes of Taxation—To be Uniform

Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—Indianians who have heard the term "Stotsenberg Amendments" used time and again in connection with the Indiana assembly and who will hear the term scores of times yet, were interested in the announcement that they would within the next few days come up for action before the legislature. There is an impression here that the state at large knows very little about these twenty-two proposed amendments to the constitution, which, if they are accepted one by one at this session and receive a majority at the polls at the next general election, will go into force as amendments to the constitution.

The United Press asked the following question of John A. Lapp, director of the state bureau of legislative information:

"What is the heart of the Stotsenberg tax amendment—in plain language?"

Mr. Lapp's reply follows:

"The Stotsenberg tax amendment provides that the legislature may classify property for purposes of taxation and fix an equitable tax upon each class. It aims to make it possible to place all property upon the tax duplicates at rates which each kind of property can afford to pay."

This amendment, it is said, meets the partial approval of experts on taxation in Indiana. The committee of forty of the State Tax Association refused to endorse it, but did so, it is said because it did not care to create the impression that its program was limited to this amendment or that it stood or fell with this amendment.

Governor Ralston in his message did not favor this amendment. He said under it "every legislature would be besieged to lower the rate on certain classes of property and to raise it on others, and at every session there would be an alignment of interests for a new classification—not unlike that the country witnesses at every revision of the tariff, with the result that often the victory would be with the strong."

The Governor commented on the fact that the words "uniform and equal" were left out of the amendment.

This amendment will, along with the other twenty-one, be opposed by the element which insists on a constitutional convention.

The amendment in full follows:

"Section 1, Article 10.—The General Assembly shall provide by law for the assessment of property for taxation and the raising of revenues thereby; and shall prescribe such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property, both real and personal, excepting such only, for municipal, educational, literary, scientific, religious or charitable purposes, as may be specifically exempted by law. In enacting laws for the assessment of property for taxation the General Assembly shall have the right to classify different kinds of property, and to provide for a different manner and basis of assessment and rate of taxation for each class."

High School Students are Beginning to Keep Eye on Teams With Lookin for Championship

TOURNAMENT MARCH 5 AND 6

Plenty of Good Teams in State And at Present it is Toss up. Wingate Out

(By United Press.)
Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 3.—With the preliminary tournaments that are to precede the state tournament little more than three weeks distant high school basketball is beginning to assume greater interest and high school students over the state are beginning to keep an eye on the leading basketball teams in the state with a view of getting a line on the teams that will meet here on March 19 and 20 in the tryout for state honors.

From present indications, Wingate having lost the famous Stonebraker, will not be in the running. With only an ordinary team the twice state champions have felt the power of the little god of ill luck in the form of chicken pox. After getting started Wingate dropped a couple of games. The fact that they are located in the basketball center of the state will work against their prospects of getting into the finals. It looks as though Lebanon, or Crawfordsville will beat them out in the preliminaries. These two teams appear strong and almost on an equality.

Anderson, which reached the finals last year, is playing with a record of no games lost. Madison county boys have won from Marion, West Lafayette, Muncie, Hartford City and Newcastle. Newcastle was defeated only by a narrow margin and looks to be one of the strongest teams in the southeastern district.

In the southwestern district, Bloomington, Clinton and Salem appear to be leading.

In the northern part the leaders appear to be Akron, LaPorte, and Rochester. Whiting under the tutelage of Stockton, the former Purdue star, is a dark horse which must be considered.

Culver, like Wingate, seems to be having hard luck. Rossville and Thornton are also weaker than last year but still are strong enough to be considered. Shelbyville with eight consecutive games safely stowed away is going like wildfire. o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o

Crown Point Objects to Noteriety Over Eugenics Bill

(By United Press.)

Crown Point, Ind., Feb. 3.—This city resents the publicity it is getting in connection with the "eugenics" marriage bill before the legislature at Indianapolis. Those who perform marriage ceremonies here insist that they observe the law in its spirit and letter. To refute the assertion that Crown Point is the haven for lovers from Chicago, they point today to a batch of marriage licenses printed here. Out of thirty-two licenses, the girl lived in Lake County in fifteen instances and in Chicago or an Illinois city in seven cases.

DUE TO LAX LAW ENFORCEMENT

What is Alleged to Have Been Crime Against 14-Year-Old Girl Could Not Have Occurred.

WITH EUGENIC MARRIAGE LAW

Youthful Miss and Illinois Farm Hand Obtain License With Ease at Crown Point, Ind.

(By United Press.)
Crown Point, Ind., Feb. 2.—Authorities here are investigating what it is alleged, was a crime against a fourteen-year-old child, and which was allowed largely because of lax enforcement of Indiana's marriage laws. Had the new eugenics marriage bill been a law and in effect, it is said this illegal marriage could not have occurred in this city, which is one of the "Gretina Greens" of Indiana.

Fred Giroux, a farm hand of Kankakee county, Ill., eloped with Ida Pontow, 14, the child of E. J. Pontow. They went to Kentland, Ind., but a marriage license was refused them there by the county clerk, who the child's age.

"Little girl," he said, "you are just a school girl, and you had better go back home and to school."

The couple left Kentland, going to Crown Point, where the license was obtained without difficulty. Neither did the justice of the peace who performed the ceremony question the pair.

The states attorney here assured Pontow that he would prosecute Giroux on criminal charges if the latter is caught. He was called by phone from Kankakee and asked whether he would prosecute.

"You bet I will," he said vigorously. "I'm going to catch Giroux and give him all I can under the law." Giroux is about 30 years old.

The proposed eugenics marriage bill would force all males to present a physician's certificate of good health when applying for a license. This, it is said, would put the "marrying squires" out of business by making it inconvenient for eloping couples who may be married speedily to escape parents of those under age.

MATURED PULLETS MAKE GOOD LAYERS

Hens Which Lay Before Fall Usually Lay All During the Winter Experts Declare.

SEND FOR A FREE BULLETIN

Pullets must be well matured before they will lay many eggs. Pullets that start to lay in the fall before cold weather sets in will, as a rule lay all winter, experts declare.

It is the early hatched pullets that produce the eggs in the fall and early winter, when prices are high. February, March and April are the months to do your hatching in order to secure early hatched pullets.

Yearlings and two-year-old hens do not lay many eggs in the fall, as they are molting at that time, and the feed they consume goes not only to keep up the energy and life of the birds, but also to put on or grow a new coat of feathers.

In properly matured pullets all surplus energy beyond that needed to meet the requirements of the body is available for the production of eggs.

Write the secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C., for free bulletin on poultry management.

BOTH PARTIES FAVOR MEASURE

Bill in Legislature Would Deny Officers Right to Employ Their Relatives.

NEARER THAN THIRD COUSIN

First Included State Offices But Was Amended to Take in Every Office in State.

If a certain bill now pending in the legislature becomes a law—and the indications are that it will—the practice of public officers in employing relatives as deputies and assistants will be stopped.

The measure is known as the Cleary bill. It was the subject of a lively little skirmish on the floor of the house. At first it was thought it would be lost but the debate developed not only enough strength to save it, but to amend it, giving it a scope much broader than it had in its original form.

In the form in which it was introduced by James F. Cleary, of Indianapolis, the bill made it unlawful for a state official to employ a relative nearer than a third cousin in his office. Before the debate had been concluded, the bill was amended on the motion of the democratic floor leader, John C. Branaman, of Brownstown, to make it applicable to every public office in the state.

When the committee on judiciary reported unfavorably on the bill, its author believed the measure was lost as he was under the impression that the majority leaders opposed it. The action of Representative Branaman and Niblack and other democrats in fighting for the measure was a surprise. The action of public officials in placing relatives in government jobs to the detriment of good government was criticised bitterly.

"I am in full sympathy with this measure," declared Representative Branaman. "We have viewed the disgraceful practice all over the state when officials have tried to hog the whole thing by providing their families with soft jobs. Some of these officials have tried to get their entire families on the payroll. You know in your party organization, whether it be Republican, Democratic or Progressive, what you have been forced to contend with on account of the wholesale employment of relatives. The only defect I see in this measure is that it does not go far enough. It should apply to every office in the state."

Representative R. C. Parrish, of Decatur, also supported the bill, declaring that the family pie counter has resulted in inefficiency in government. Representative Niblack supported the bill, paying a compliment to the measure, even though it originated on the Republican side of the House. He was applauded.

"I am heartily in accord with this bill," he declared. "It is a Republican bill by a Republican member. When I came here I resolved to vote on the right side of things. I think the right side of this question is to vote for this bill. It should be a pleasure for the Democrats to support such a laudable measure from the Republican side. There is nothing so sickening to the public as to have a gang of state officials constantly trying to dictate to the Legislature and trying to tell the public what it must do. There is nothing so sickening as to see some of the offices filled with relatives of the officials."

Representative James B. Strange of Marion and Alexander Fulton of Lagro, also upheld the measure. The unfavorable committee report was tabled and an amendment submitted by Floor Leader Branaman to make the bill apply to all offices was acted upon favorably.

If the bill gets by the senate and into the statute books, it will affect a certain number of job-holders in every county in the state. It is said that there is not a county in Indiana that does not have cases of public officers employing their relatives. Here in Howard county, at the present time, four county officers, the auditor, the clerk, the sheriff, and the treasurer, have relatives employ-

KNITTING NEW STUNT AT PRISON

Five Hundred Convicts at Sing Sing Interested in Making Mufflers For Polish Relief.

MANY ARTICLES TURNED OUT

Started With Five Men and Then Interest in Yarn Took Big Bound Until All Wanted it.

(By United Press.)
 New York, Feb. 3.—To Mother, and the Wife, and Sister Mary: Watch your knitting.

To Aunt Jane, you who learned to knit so long before the rest of us and smile so condescendingly at us now: Watch out for Your laurels.

To Peter Sloveavish, of Poland: Greetings—from Danny the Rat, of Sing Sing.

In his cheerless, warswept cottage, Peter will open a package one of these days. In it he will find a muffler, heavy, warm, of gray woolen texture, and he will throw it about his neck, or perhaps give it to little Paul, or tiny Katherine, who may need it more than Peter. And he will go forth on the snowy paths and hum a Polish folk song, for he will be warmer, and happier to know that some one in far off America has remembered him. But he will never know who knitted his muffler.

Peter's muffler is being knitted today "up the river." A sharp-faced pickpocket a burly con-man or may be a lifer, who has taken a life and is paying for it, knitting, knitting, counting one-stitch-drop-stitch, in the long hours after the tier doors are locked and he is alone in his cell.

Peter's muffler will be well-knitted, for the pickpocket, thug, gunman or fine-handed forger can drop a stitch and pick it up as well as you, or sister Mary or even Aunt Jane, who is the best knitter in the family.

There are five hundred convicts knitting at Sing Sing. Mrs. Ernest Shelling, of the American Polish Relief committee, taught them how. She was at the prison the other day and took her knitting along. Warden Osborne said he was knitting too.

"We need mufflers for the Polish children, women and non-combatants," Mrs. Shelling told him, and suggested that the prisoners might knit. Osborne gave his consent.

"The convicts took to it willingly," said Mrs. Shelling. "Some of them are more adept than many women I know, and they like it, for it gives them occupation during the hours they are forced to stay alone in their cells, and takes their minds off their surroundings."

"I went into the chapel and picked out four or five men to teach first. One of them was a big burly fellow, perhaps a burglar, and I was surprised at the keen interest he took in the yarn."

"He worked a few moments, got the swing of it, and said: 'Ge, this is fascinating.'"

"Another of my first pupils was a Russian. He had knitted before, and was glad to get his hands on the needles and yarn again."

"I've got a wife back in Russia," he said, "and she thinks I'm bad. Now I'll write her that I am knitting for the Polish. Then she will think more of me."

"Four or five hundred of the convicts volunteered to knit," Mrs. Shelling continued. "Warden Osborne told them of our committee's work and the need of aid in Poland where the devastation has been worse than in Belgium."

"We are going to furnish the yarn and needles, through donations to our committee here. Only mufflers, big and warm, will be knitted by the prisoners at first. They are not yet sufficiently adept to try knitting socks—indeed few people are—but some of them, I believe, will surpass as knitters many persons, even women, who are not in prisons. And they will devote more time to it. One can knit in the dark, you know, and it is an interesting way to pass solitary hours."

"That is something big in the thought that these prisoners are doing freely for people they never saw. It is their first opportunity to help, and, being unfortunates themselves, they, more than any one else, appreciate that misfortune needs relief. I hope that prisons elsewhere take up the practice."

Mrs. Shelling's visit to Sing Sing has aroused her interest in the prisoners more than she would have believed possible.

"I went there thinking I might help the Polish unfortunates," she said, "but now I think we are helping the prisoners, too. Conditions are wonderfully better at the prison now than a few years ago, but the men have had too little to do during their 'lone hours.'"

Hundreds of knitted articles are being received at the offices of the committee, 487 Fifth avenue, every week. Mrs. Shelling has looked over most of them, and declares that American women are learning to knit almost as well as their great-grand-mothers' did."

TO LOWER EXPENSE OF CITIES BY $3,000

Representative Bendel Expected His Bill to Oust Board of Works to Reach Second Reading.

DESIGNED FOR HUNTINGTON

 Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—Rep. H. L. Bendel of Huntington today expected his bill decreasing the expenses of fourth class cities to reach second reading. It has been given a majority report of 9 to 3 by the cities and towns committee.

"This bill would decrease the expense of a fourth class city (cities with assessed valuation of 5,000,000 or more population between 10,000 and 20,000) by $3,000 annually," said Bendel. "It would do this by doing away with the board of works, which exists outside of the official family. It would substitute for the present board of works a board to consist of the mayor, the civil engineer and another man of different party, who would receive not over $500 a year salary."

Bendel said the board of works in a city of the fourth class has very light duties. Each member draws a salary of 1,200. Bendel has Huntington in mind, and his bill would throw the present members of the board out of office.

BILL TO HELP JOBLESS READY

When Delegation Arrives Thursday, Will Find Proposed Measure. Drafted by John A. Lapp.

JUST WHAT IT CONTEMPLATES

Provides For Appointment of Unemployed Commissioner on Petition of Three Freeholders.

(By United Press.)
 Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—When the delegation from Kokomo arrives here Thursday for the conference on the bill for the unemployed it will find the bill awaiting them in its tentative draft as prepared by John A. Lapp, head of the bureau for legislative information, after consultations with J. Frank Lindsey of the Kokomo Chamber of Commerce.

The bill is novel in its proposal of a method to aid the unemployed. It is the idea of Mr. Lindsey. The appointment of a commission of five in any city or county is provided for the members to serve without compensation during the term of the mayor. They would compose the unemployed service commission.

This commission would on the petition of three freeholders have power to order a hearing at which the members of the board of works would appear together with any other witnesses the commission might summon to give evidence on the condition of the unemployed of the city. The petition of the freeholders giving occasion for his hearing must set out that a condition of industrial depression exists and that the supply of labor exceeds the demand, with the result that there is likely to be distress among the unemployed.

If the commission after the hearing believes the petition correct it may declare that an emergency exists and may direct the board of works to undertake the construction of some public work it has been contemplating, the cost not to exceed, $5,000.

Lindsey believes that in the method of choosing the employes for this work lies the strength of the bill. It requires that in giving employment the board shall consider whether the applicant is married or single, the size of his family, general financial conditions, habits, record as a citizen and length of residence in the city.

"In all cases" the bill states, "those applicants shall be given preference, who in the judgment of the board have the greatest responsibility incumbent upon them, are the most needful and deserving and the longest residence in the city."

The board of works is given complete power over the employment of help and may discharge anyone not performing his duties properly. The board is authorized to pay a daily wage slightly lower than the prevailing standard for such labor, not more than 20 per cent lower than the standard. If the work is being delayed to the public detriment because of the incompetence of the employes, the commission may declare the emergency at an end.

would be equitable for the city to pay for the janitor work and support the library if the county would furnish the room in the court house free of charge and furnish the heat and light. Since meters have been installed in the court house, it is said that some complaint is being heard from the county's side of the house.

It is pointed out that the lighting expense of the library amounts to very little because the library is open only one night each week, and that is Saturday night until only eight o'clock, when the court house is open anyway and the lights in the corridors are burning anyway. So the only extra light is that used in the library itself. The library used to be open on Wednesday nights only but that was stopped because people went into other parts of the court house. It has long been advocated that gates could be installed and prevent persons from entering the upper floors of the court house when it is open at night.

THOUSANDS PANIC-STRICKEN

Logansport, Ind., Feb. 3.—Ice breaking up in the Eel River jammed at the Third street bridge here shortly before 6 o'clock last evening and in ten minutes a portion of the business district and a large area of the West Side residence district were under water. Thousands of persons were panic-stricken and began removing furniture to safety and in some instances fled precipitately before the rising water.

In Eel River avenue and Second street, fashionable residence districts, the water reached a height of several feet, flooding basements and extinguishing fires. The Barnett Hotel basement was flooded, and guests, fearing a repetition of the 1913 flood, fled in panic. Within half an hour the ice jam at the bridge broke up and the water rapidly receded from the streets. The downtown business streets are littered with great cakes of ice. Great damage has been done to stocks of goods in the basements of many of the business houses.

Scathing Denunciation of Bendel Bill to Abolish Boards of Works is Delivered in House.

CONDITIONS AT HUNTINGTON.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3.—Scathing denunciation of the Bendel bill, abolishing the present board of works in fourth class cities and substituting the mayor, the civil engineer and another at a saving in salary of $3,000 was made by Representative Linfield Meyers on the question of adoption of the minority report of the committee against the bill.

"This is a fight between Democrats and Republicans in Huntington that Bendel has had the nerve to bring down here," Meyers said. "The board of works in Huntington is now engaged in building a water and light plant and the Huntington Fuel and Light company is behind the scheme to abolish the board of works. The mayor is sick and the civil engineer is only 23. They would be unable to act properly."

POPULATION IS ON THE INCREASE

Number in State Nears 2,794,251.

According to Five-Year Estimate by the Census Bureau.

INCREASE OF 3.46 PER CENT

Estimate Prepared by Director of Census Reveals 850,899 Voters in Indiana.

Washington, Feb. 3.—On April 15, 1915, five years since the last decennial census, and midway until that of 1920, the estimated population of the state of Indiana will be 2,794,251, compared with 2,700,876 in 1910, an increase of 93,375, or at the rate of 3.46 per cent. for the five year period. The computations are made on the basis of the methods followed by the United States Census Bureau in promulgating its annual estimates.

Rather interesting is the description of the manner of making the annual estimates, as given in a letter from William J. Harris, director of the bureau of the census. He says:

"It is assumed that the annual increase each year since April 15, 1910, has been equal to the annual increase from 1900 to 1910. As, however, the number of months from June 1, 1900, to April 15, 1910, is 118.5, the computation is made on the basis of the increase for each month. In other words, the population in 1900, subtracted from that of 1910, and the remainder divided by 118.5, gives the increase for one month, and this multiplied by twelve gives the increase for one year. The arithmetical method is used by this bureau and not the percentage of increase."

The estimates given for the state are for April 15, rather than for July 1, the latter being the date of the annual estimates given out by the Census Bureau. This change is made for the reason that April 15 completes the five-year period since the last decennial census—the half way mark between that census and the coming one of 1920.

MATTER IS STILL UNDER ADVISEMENT

Records Do Not Show That County Commissioners Ever Acted on Treasurer's Office Request

CITY MADE PROPOSITION

The statement was made at the council meeting last night that the city had a lease for 99 years on the room in the court house now occupied by the city treasurer's office but there is nothing in the records to indicate that this statement is true. There has been some agitation as to what right the city had in maintaining an office in the court house. The statement was made that the city entered into an agreement with the county whereby the city was to pay $100 and furnish water for the horse troughs on the court house square and in return was to get a lease on the room for 99 years.

The treasurer's office was moved to the present location during the Cowing administration, the change taking place in 1905. The only record available is where Harvey M. Cowing, acting as mayor, filed a petition with the commissioners asking for the use of the room on the first floor of the court-house. The record shows that the commissioners took the matter under advisement and as far as the record is concerned the commissioners still have it under advisement.

Mr. Cowing stated this morning that the commissioners and the city simply had a verbal agreement and that the office was placed there for convenience.

Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—The law prohibiting theatrical performances on Sunday would indirectly be repealed by a bill prepared for introduction in the house. The bill would however, place such a heavy tax on Sunday performances—one half of the gross receipts—that it is doubtful whether many other than picture shows could take advantage of it.

One-half of the receipts of Sunday shows of all sorts would go to charity, yet organized charity has indicated that it would not befriend the bill. Organized charity would not handle the money thus returned. A committee of three appointed by the mayor or board of trustees of a town to hold office throughout the administration's term, would receive all funds and would apportion them for charitable purposes at their discretion, rendering an annual report to the mayor.

Productions of all sorts are named including the circus comedy, tragedy opera, ballet, farce, variety show, negro minstrelsy, acrobatic feats, rope dance or moving picture show. Those conducting the performance in violation of the proposed law would be subject to a fine between $25 and $100.

The scheme proposed is similar to that instituted by Mayor Bell during the past year. He appointed a committee. His move was opposed by organized charity for the reason the organization believed a committee working independently would duplicate work done by the organization.

COUNCIL WANTS
A SANE FOURTHOrdinance Introduced Tuesday Night Prohibits Sale and Shooting of Fireworks in City.

STREET OILING QUESTION

City Attorney Instructed to Draw
up Ordinance But One Council-
man is Opposed to it.

A safe and sane Fourth of July is assured Rushville if an ordinance regarding the sale and shooting of fireworks introduced last night at the regular council meeting becomes a law. The ordinance as introduced will be a fine thing for the person wanting quiet but hits the "kids" and the man selling fireworks.

The ordinance absolutely forbids the firing of any crackers, rockets, torpedoes, canes, or any other of the various varieties within the city limits and makes it equally as unlawful for a person, firm or corporation to keep and offer for sale any kind of fireworks.

Councilman Brann stated that there was no use for the council passing the ordinance unless it expected to live up to it and he was in favor of passing it last night. A motion to suspend the rules was lost because it failed to get the two-thirds vote. Councilmen Seudder and Manzy voted against it. The ordinance will be allowed to take the usual channels.

The ordinance is patterned after those sent out by the state fire marshal and the only way the city can have fire works is at a public display and then it will be necessary for the person expecting to put it on to make written application to the council. Under the provisions of the ordinance even red fire at a political meeting is not allowed, and to have this kind of a demonstration it would be necessary to get permission from the city.

The ordinance, as introduced, provides that the "discharging, firing and use of all firecrackers, rockets, torpedoes, roman candles, other fire works or substance designed and intended for pyrotechnical display and all pistols, canes, cannons, and other appliances using blank cartridges or caps containing elaborate of potash mixture" is unlawful, but provides that the council can grant a permit for a public display.

The ordinance also makes it unlawful "for any person, firm or corporation to keep or exhibit for sale at retail or wholesale any fireworks, fire crackers, rockets, torpedoes, roman candles or pistols and guns." The ordinance provides a fine of not less than $10 and not more than $25 and states that in case of storage of fire works by a firm, person or corporation each day shall be held a separate offense.

A big fight is likely to develop in the council over the street oiling for next spring. The council voted last night to instruct the city attorney to draw up an oiling ordinance and when this ordinance comes up the fight will start. The ordinance is opposed by Councilman Brann, who states that he has had enough of the oiling business and that if the people want oiling let them do it themselves. Council Brann is in favor of establishing a small tax levy next fall for this purpose and pay for the oiling out of the general fund.

The position of Councilman Brann is that the people of the city got "stung" on the last oiling and the city was put to more trouble than it was worth. There is still $500 out yet from the oiling last year. The city is not responsible for this and the contractor will have to look to the property owners for his money.

TO FIGHT CHOLERA
SERUM MEASUREExpected Hundred Farmers Will go to Indianapolis Tomorrow For Public Hearing.

ENDORSE JINNETT'S STAND

The hog cholera serum bill, now before the legislature will be given a public hearing by the committee tomorrow, and if all counties in the state express their opinion of the bill as will Rush county there can be little doubt in the minds of the committee as to how the farmers regard the bill.

It is expected that at least one hundred farmers from Rush county will go to Indianapolis to attend the public hearing. The farmers here are opposed to the bill in no uncertain terms and regardless of politics have endorsed the stand taken by Representative W. B. Jinnett. Jinnett proposes to fight the bill to the last ditch. The farmers here believe that the bill tends too much towards a monopoly in that it would have vaccination of hogs done only by veterinarians.

The delegation from Rush county intends to get a hearing before the committee and will do all it can to help defeat the proposed law.

LIBRARY SETS
SOME RECORDSLargest Number of Books Ever
Loaned Was in January, Librarian's Report Reveals

LAST SATURDAY BIGGEST DAY

Reeves Library is Given to City Institution—Lighting Question
Up Again

Increasing popularity of the city library in the court house is revealed by the annual as well as monthly report of the librarian, Miss Mary Sleeth, to the library board at its regular monthly meeting in the library last night. All records for the local library were broken during the month of January.

It was also announced today by the librarian that Earl Reeves had donated to the library practically the whole library of his father, the late J. B. Reeves. Although the librarian has not yet had time to count the books because they have just been delivered and are piled haphazardly in one of the small rooms opening into the library, a conservative estimate places the number at two hundred volumes. There are many valuable books in the collection and Miss Sleeth said they were immensely appreciated.

From December, 1913 to December, 1914, according to the annual report which has just been compiled by Miss Sleeth, thirteen thousand, seven hundred and twenty-seven books have been loaned out of the Rushville library, which is an average of forty-four books a day. That is a very high average for the year. This does not account for the hundreds of magazines which have been loaned. There are no records of those transactions.

But it was in January, the month just closed, where new records were established for the Rushville library. There was an average of fifty-one one-half books a day loaned. And besides, last Saturday, the last day of the month the library was open, was by far the largest day the library ever enjoyed. There were one hundred and seventy books loaned out that day. Miss Sleeth knew she had had a busy day when she closed the doors Saturday night. The simple fact that one hundred and seventy books were loaned does not represent the work the librarian had to do because there is an increasing number of persons each month who are looking for references on various subjects and who demand the time of the librarian.

There are now a total of two thousand, seven hundred and eighty-three books in the library, not including the Reeves gift, the librarian's monthly report shows.

January was the biggest month in the history of the library in other ways. More children's books that were not fiction were borrowed than ever before. There one hundred and sixteen books of this class loaned. This was gratifying to the library board and indicated the growing appreciation of the institution.

The question of who shall pay for lighting the library is again a question which is agitating the mind of some of the officials. The city of Rushville supports the library with a special tax but the library is open to the whole county and is used by people from all over the county. There is a rest room in conjunction with the library which is used by country women who come to Rushville. Miss Sleeth estimates that one-third of the library patrons are persons from outside the city.

When the library was established in the court house, it was felt it

MIGHT AFFECT
THE LOCAL CASESenator Krau Introduces Bill to Make Petitioners for Local Option
Election Bear Expense.

LAST ONE HERE COST $350

Probable That before Petition for
Election Here is Filed Measure
Will be Disposed Of.

If the liquor bill which was introduced in the Indiana general assembly yesterday in Indianapolis by Senator William P. Krau of Elkhart should happen to become a law, it would probably change the situation here as regards the approaching "wet" and "dry" election which has been anticipated because the bill seeks to place the burden of expense of conducting a local option election on the petitioners, whereas, under the present law, the expenses are paid out of the funds of the city or township in which the election is held.

The last election which was held March 3, 1913, cost the city of Rushville approximately three hundred and fifty dollars. In case the Krau bill should be passed in its present form by the legislature, the "wets" would have to deposit with the county commissioners, on filing their petition for an election, a sum equal to the costs of conducting the election. This means the sum which would have to be raised and deposited would be in the neighborhood of three hundred and fifty dollars.

The "wets" can not file their petition for an election before the March meeting of the county board of commissioners, which falls on Monday, the first day of the month. By that time the legislature will be near the end of its legal time to exist and it is probable that most of the bills introduced will be dealt with, so that the Krau measure will be either passed or killed by that time.

Senator Krau declared he believed the measure is equally fair to the "drys" and the "wets" in localities where there is a liquor fight, and that the bill seeks to carry out the spirit of other statutes where there is an election and under which, he pointed out, expenses are not paid out of the public treasury.

The bill seeks to re-enact Secs. 1, 8 and 10 of the present liquor statutes, and adds at the end of Sec. 1 that the petitioners who ask the board of county commissioners to hold an election shall deposit with the commissioners a sum equal to the cost of conducting such election. It also stipulates that where an election is carried twice successively by one faction there shall be no election in that territory again for six years.

Persons who are in touch with the affairs of the Indiana Brewers Association professed to know nothing of the bill.

"This rule to make the petitioner pay the expense of the election would be as fair for one side as for the other," said Senator Krau, in explaining the provisions of the bill. "If the 'wets' desire an election they would be required to deposit the cost of conducting it with the commissioners, the same as the 'drys' would be. And the provision for restricting the number of elections is fair enough, I believe, as I can see no reason for bringing up the liquor question every two years, as is now done in a large number of localities. Under the proposed amendment if the 'drys' carry a district twice in succession the 'wets' could not bring the subject up again for six years and the 'drys' would be restricted if the 'wets' carried it."

Join Today in Campaign Before the Legislature.

SANCTIONED BY THEM ALL

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3.—Women's organizations of Indiana joined today in a campaign for the passage of a bill at the present session of the legislature to grant partial suffrage to women. The proposed bill was endorsed this afternoon by the Legislative Council of Indiana Women on motion of Dr. Amelia Keller, president of the Women's Franchise League.

The action followed a similar endorsement of the bill at a meeting of district chairmen of the Women's Franchise League this morning. The endorsement of the council was held pending the approval of other Indiana women's suffrage organizations. The bill probably will be introduced tomorrow.

WILL NOT COME
WITH W. J. BRYANJohn Kern Says in Letter he is Detained in Washington at This Time by Filibuster.

MAY AFFECT PRIMARY BILL

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3.—Senator John W. Kern will not accompany Secretary Bryan when the latter comes here tomorrow to address the Indiana Democratic editors. In a letter received today by the Indiana bureau of the United Press, he said:

"On account of the Republican filibuster which is now obstructing all legislation it will be quite impossible for me to be in Indianapolis February 4. I hope, however, to come about ten days later."

There was speculation whether the delay of ten days would injure the Jones-Rinear primary bill which Kern is believed to favor.

NOT SO STRONG
FOR ECONOMYSenator E. C. Eikman Presents Bill
to Increase Salaries of Pros-
ecutors in Other Circuits.

FOR REDUCTION IN MARION

Signed Minority Report Making De-
crease in Case of Republican
Official Effective at Once.

Edward C. Eikman, who gives his home as New Palestine and his business address as 1010 Hume-Mansur building, Indianapolis and who is the accredited representative of the people of Hancock, Rush and Fayette counties in the state senate, yesterday introduced in the upper branch of the legislature in Indianapolis a bill to raise the salaries of prosecutors in a number of judicial circuits in Indiana.

This is the same Edward C. Eikman, Democrat, who, in the senate last Friday, together with Walter S. Chambers, senator from Henry and Madison counties, signed a minority report of the committee on fees and salaries on the Thornton bill to reduce the salary of the prosecutor of Marion county, a Republican who took office the first day of this year, and make it become effective at once.

Four members of the committee at that time maintained that reduction in the salary of the Marion county prosecutor should not become effective until the term of the present prosecutor expired because the state made an implied contract that the salary of the Marion county prosecutor should be a certain sum. The members of the committee who signed a minority report on the bill favoring it but not making it effective until the expiration of the present prosecutor's term felt that was the only fair thing to do.

Senator Eikman, however, remained firm in his stand for the minority report. At that time he was strong for economy and thought the Marion county prosecutor was receiving more than he deserved. His bill, however, would provide increases in salary of either $500 or $1,000 for a large number of prosecutors.

Senator Eikman's measure provides that in judicial circuits where there are three counties, the prosecutor shall receive a salary of $1,500 a year in addition to his fees, while prosecutors in circuits composed of two counties, would receive $1,000 instead of $500, in addition to their fees.

Eikman, in his speech a few days ago, made some mention of the fact that the fee system is not a good one. The bill introduced today would give prosecutors a fair raise in salary, but does not take away their fees.

Senator Eikman also introduced another bill. This bill would repeal the present law on the subject of libel and place newspapers and other publishers under the old law. While the present law requires that three days be given a publisher in which to retract alleged libelous remarks before suit is begun, the old law contains no such provision. The present law also specifically provides that a person may collect only actual damages done and specifies what are damages under the act. The old law contains no such provision and lays a publisher open to suits for damages in any amount.

$3000.00 FIRE PREVENTED

The House the Red Jacket Saved

Read This Letter:

"Several years ago I called on Lane & Evans to buy a pump and they almost forced me to buy one of your Fig. 28 Red Jacket Double-Acting Force Pumps and fifty feet of hose when I only intended to buy a cheap set length pump. Mr. Lane put up such strong argument on 'fire protection' that I followed his advice and bought the Fig. 28, little thinking that it would be of any service to me in that respect.

Shortly after the pump was installed, my barn caught fire and had it not been for this pump and hose and the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Barnett, my barn, house and all buildings on the place would have been destroyed."

AN ABSOLUTELY TRUE STORY

Of How E. L. Marshall of Shreveport, La., Was Cured of a Stomach Trouble That Kept Him Out of Work for Months.

Shreveport, La.—"I had a bad stomach trouble for years and became so weak I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was very poor, then my food would not digest, I bloated and was very weak and nervous, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. I was so bad I could not work for months at a time. I tried too many remedies to name, but without help. I saw Vinol advertised and tried it, and soon noticed an improvement. I continued its use and now my stomach trouble is completely cured. I am a well man enjoying perfect health and have gained in weight."—E. L. MARSHALL, Shreveport, La.

The recovery of Mr. Marshall was due to the combined action of the medicinal tissue building elements of the extract of cod's livers, aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, contained in Vinol, which seldom fails to strengthen and tone up the tired, over-taxed and weakened nerves of the stomach and remove the trouble.

WHEAT FLUCTUATES MORE THAN 9 POINTS

Wheat Reached Highest Price in Many Years Here When $1.57

Pur Bushel Was Offered.

FLOUR IS FIVE CENTS A POUND

Wheat reached the highest price here in years yesterday when local millers were offering $1.57 a bushel for it. The price jumped back today and was quoted at $1.50. With the highest price offered in years there was very little wheat changed hands, the farmers evidently believing they will get their own price for the grain. As a result of the increase yesterday flour went up ten cents more on the sack. Twenty-four pound sacks were retailing at $1.20 and twelve pound sacks at sixty cents, making flour sell at five cents a pound. This is the highest price in years.

DOWN SEVEN CENTS ON LOCAL MARKET

Wild Scenes on Chicago Board of Trade Today Following High

MAY WHEAT CLOSES AT $1.59 1/2

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Feb. 3.—May wheat today closed at $1.59 1/2 after having reached a new high record price of $1.66. The extreme fluctuation for the May wheat during the day of wild scenes on the board of trade was nine and one-quarter points per bushel.

The most riotous scenes witnessed on the board of trade since the famous Patten and Leiter deal occurred at today's opening when May wheat opened at $1.62, dropped to $1.56 1/2 within ten minutes and at the end of fifteen minutes had set a new high record, leaping to $1.65 1/2.

Traders on the floor acted like wild men. Spectators who crowded the galleries, caught the excitement and screamed with the howling brokers. The pit fairly seethed like a huge caldron of boiling human beings.

Cologne Gazette, in Inspired Article, Attacks American Attitude.

(By United Press.)
Berlin, (Via Wireless,) Feb. 3.—"American neutrality is now only a thin curtain behind which zealous loving service to England conceals itself. If America respects only brutal power, we, too, will play the brutal power."

The Cologne Gazette which is frequently inspired by the government today contained this statement.

"If America were really neutral," said the Gazette, "she would demand permission to sell material to Germany and Austria as well as the allies."

Bell's Bubble Burst.
From publicity that is being given Mayor Bell's effort to put through the present session of the Indiana legislature any of his pet legislation for Indianapolis to increase his own power, it is gleaned that he has slim chances although it was expected the machine whip would crack for his special bills. In one measure Bell proposed, it was provided that he be allowed to appoint a finance board for the city of Indianapolis which would have the power to determine the number of offices and employees of the city of Indianapolis not now provided for by law, and to fix their compensation; to annex or disannex territory, and to approve franchises or grand licenses.

This would be a fine little law that would place in the hands of one man the power to appoint a finance board that would wield so much influence. The members of the board would be in no way responsive to the wants of the people because they would be once removed from the people. That is one form of "representative" government that is a far cry to "direct democracy."

Some Good Suggestions.
An excellent recommendation is found in the report of the special committee from the lower house of the Indiana legislature which was appointed to investigate the situation in regard to the quarantine in Indiana as the result of the foot and mouth disease epidemic among live stock. Recommendation for legislation covering the question is made, but most important of all is the suggestion that here be incorporated in the proposed law a provision requiring immediate quarantine around a farm that is infected not to exceed 3 miles and so to restrict the passing by disinfection that the other territory surrounding will not feel the subsequent loss in prices, as now. It was also proposed that excessive charges and unnecessary officers be restricted when the quarantine is on.

These are very safe and sane suggestion that there be incorporated in by the legislature.

A correspondent from this city, in a communication to the Indianapolis News, calls attention to the common custom of referring to "deserving poor" whenever a charitable undertaking is under way. "What about the undeserving poor?" asks this person. "Don't they get cold and hungry? And who is to judge whether they need help?" The point is well taken and one that might be considered.

A statement issued by the Republican national committee shows that the Republicans cast more votes where national issues were involved than either the Democrats or Progressives. The compilation was made on the vote for United States senators and representatives in congress, and not on the vote for governor or any other state officers. The vote was as follows: Republican, 5,915,270; Democrat, 5,752,580; Progressive, 1,474,234.

What the Solons Are Doing; Legislative Facts---By Expert

Prepared for the United Press by John A. Lapp, Director of the Bureau of Legislative Information.

(Mr. Lapp will answer questions relating to the work of the Legislature, including legislative organization and methods, pending bills and enacted laws. Questions on the merits of men or measures will not be answered. To avoid delay address all questions direct to the United Press, 36 1/2 West Washington St., Indianapolis. Questions may be sent to the Daily Republican if preferred.)

A. B. Henderson writes—"How do bills introduced so far this session of the legislature compare in number with those introduced in a corresponding time during the 1913 session? About what proportion of the bills introduced usually pass?"
Reply—On the twenty-third day after the session began in the 1913 and 1915 sessions bills introduced were as follows:
1913—House bills, 361, Senate bills, 276, Total 637; 1915—House bills, 241, Senate bills 178, Total, 419.
About one-fourth of the bills introduced in other sessions have usually passed.

School Boy writes—"What is a

conference report? Do all bills face such a report?"

Reply—When one house passes a bill with amendments from the form in which it passed the other house, it becomes necessary to settle the differences. If the first house refuses to accept the amendments, a conference committee of two members from each house is appointed. This is called a conference report to their houses adjusting the differences. Each house can accept or refuse the conference report.

Tax Student writes—"What state approaches nearest the budget system in its financial methods? How is Indiana on this?"

Reply—Ohio has the most scientific budget system. Indiana has the beginnings of such a system in the legislative investigation committee which makes investigations and reports recommendations for appropriations.

MASS OF PEOPLE AGAINST RISE

Senator McCormick Says Despite Efforts of Railroads People Do Not Favor Higher Rates

ARE NOW GOING ABOUT STATE
Propose Change in Fee System of Prosecutor's Office Would Hit Rucker Very Hard

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—"Manufactured sentiment" is what Senator McCormick of North Judson calls the deluge of appeals which is coming to the legislature in behalf of the railroad fare increase bill of Representative Waltz of Evansville. It would increase passenger fares from 2 cents a mile to 2 1/2 cents a mile within the state.
"The railroads are holding meetings in all parts of the state attended by their employees and business men. These send resolutions to us asking for the increase" he said. "But the mass of the people do not want the increase granted, and I, for one, will not vote for it."

It is believed the bill will have a hard time getting past the forty farmers who are members of the lower house.

The phenomenon of a man drawing $500 a year who objects to a raise to $5,000 in salary is seen in Indianapolis in the person of Alvah J. Rucker, prosecutor of Marion county.
The reason, however, that Rucker objects, is that under the bigger salary he would get none of the fees that now revert to the prosecutor and that raise his total to what has variously been estimated at from $12,000 to $18,000 a year. One former prosecutor who held the office when the police, the courts and the prosecutor worked in harmony, said he "salted away" $60,000 in clear cash during his 4-year tenure.

The prosecutor has twenty-five deputies, five of whom usually are placed on salaries of from $75 to $150 a month. The others get half of the fees from their court, which amount to about $30 or $40 a month. The prosecutor's office is considered desirable, for it offers the opportunity to appoint these 25 young attorneys. A political machine has been formed on this basis more than once.

The fees come from police, juvenile, justice of the peace and criminal courts in the main.
Such are the facts in the case. The argument on the Democratic side is economy for Marion county. On the Republican side they say the Democrats should not violate the contract Rucker made with the county when he accepted the office and should not lower salaries now when they raised salaries two years ago. The Republicans ask how Rucker could pay 25 deputies out of the allowance of $7,500 made by the bill.

Assemblymen were brought face to face with hard times when they ordered figs at a local restaurant this week. The diners have been receiving four figs for a nickel, but orders apparently were changed, for when a waiter gave a customer four figs he was "called" by a head waiter and told figs were now three for a nickel.

Those who worry about the Indiana legislature being extravagant at times would probably be hysterical if they lived in Illinois. By constitutional provision the Indiana legislature ends at the expiration of sixty-one days. There seldom is a serious deadlock and organization is completed with dispatch. In Illinois, on the contrary, the legislature which convened shortly after the Indiana assembly, is still deadlocked on the speakership. It also was deadlocked in 1913—that time over both the speakership and the election of two senators. It can continue in session as long as it pleases. The expense to the state can be estimated when the statement of a legislator is remembered that the Indiana legislature costs the state at the rate of $5 a minute.

"The Illinois legislature's natural condition is that of deadlock," to quote Senator Sherman.

Councilman Brann stated last night that the law under which the oiling was done was tried out last year for the first time and that the people had enough taxation without putting this oiling on them. The ordinance will be fought to the end if it is introduced and the fight will be waged by Mr. Brann.

The city will likely face a law suit over the meter question. It is understood that John D. Megee will sue the city, making a test case out of it to determine whether the city has the right to charge for labor in putting in the meters. He filed a claim for work done in putting in two meters and the claim was turned down as usual. This was to be expected and the suit is likely to result. The city holds that it has the right to charge for the meters and the cost of installing them.

In case the court should hold the city did not have this right the city can charge as high as fifty cents a month meter rent under rating of the public service commission. With a charge of fifty cents a month meter rent it would be cheaper in the long run to pay the cost of placing the meters. The city will make provision to charge meter rent in case it is denied the right to charge for the labor and the purchase of the meters.

The finance committee reported that the treasurer's reports for the

Central Delivery System

It is with pleasure that we, the undersigned merchants announce to our customers that we have contracted with the Benson Delivery Co., to establish a central delivery station in this city. We did this only after a thorough investigation in other cities where such systems are established. Wherever they are in operation, central delivery systems are meeting the approval of both merchants and patrons.

Central Delivery Starts Mon. February 15 ...What It Does....

CENTRAL DELIVERY enables the merchant to organize his working force and confine all his attention within the store, without worry about getting orders out on time, for the delivery is in charge of a responsible man, who will see that goods go out on schedule time. CENTRAL DELIVERY in no way prevents competition, as every merchant fixes his own prices.

CENTRAL DELIVERY will benefit customers, as they can place their orders and know just at what hour to expect the delivery wagon, by referring to their schedule.

With co-operation between merchants and customers, the new system will be a pleasure and a satisfaction to all concerned and we feel that we have solved a problem, that in the past, has required too much of the merchant's time that should have been devoted to matters within the store.

The new Central Station, under the management of E. E. Benson, is located at Morgan and Water streets in a new sanitary building, built especially for this purpose, and you are invited there at any time to see the careful handling of orders.

For an eleven o'clock dinner or merchandise wanted early, place your order in time for the eight o'clock delivery.

With your co-operation in the new system, we expect Rushville to have the best delivery service that has ever been given.

- |                             |                                  |

months of October, November and December were correct. The report of the treasurer for the month of January was referred to the finance committee.

The council took considerable time in paying bond coupons held by the banks and various persons.

Superintendent Mahin reported that the water and light plant was operating in good order. He stated that the first month's reading of the meters at the court house showed that the electric bill was around $59 and that the water bill amounted to over $25.

The ordinance for a paid fire department was not introduced. The city attorney hopes to have it ready by the next meeting.

A letter was read to the council from Mrs. Joseph Pugh and children expressing appreciation to the council for the floral tribute of the city given at the death of the late Joseph Pugh. The letter was made a matter of record and was as follows: "Accept, if you will, an expression of deepest appreciation and gratitude for the evidence of your love and respect for our husband and father, so beautifully typified by your floral tribute. May we think of you as composites of those men who in years past sat in council, and have been their friends, and in thanking you thank them."

ST. PAUL BOXER SHOWS UP BEST

Mike Gibbons Appears to be Best of Middleweights Despite Claims to Contrary.

DILLON IS ONE OF THESE

But Jack Has Not Been Doing Business in This Class But Says He Can Make the Weight

BY HAL SHERIDAN
New York, Feb. 3.—Mike Gibbons, the phantom-like boxer of St. Paul is the best middleweight in the business. Despite howls to the contrary from Eddie McGoorty, Jack Dillon, Jimmie Clabby, et al., the lad from Minnesota is the nearest thing to a real champion the fans have seen since the death of Stanley Ketchel. He doesn't stand heel and shoulders above his contemporaries, but he stands high enough that he can be easily recognized over their heads.

Before the Gibbons Clabby battle at Milwaukee several weeks ago, the Hammond boxer was considered about the cream of his division. He had a belt emblematic of the middleweight championship given him by Lucie Tom McCarey in San Francisco after he had beaten George Chip in twenty rounds.

But Clabby failed to show championship class in his battle with Gibbons. Mike was an easy winner, according to ringside reports and it was a real battle all the way. Clabby's friends argue that he can't lose his prestige in ten rounds, but Gibbons so clearly outfought him in ten that it is a safe bet he could also do it in twenty.

Two men remain to be disposed of before Mike's claim to the crown is to be absolutely unquestioned. They are Eddie McGoorty, the Oshkosh bear, and Jack Dillon.

Dillon hasn't been doing much business with the middleweights recently and the cry has gone up that the Hoosier can't make the weight. But Dillon contends he can and offers to prove it is the occasion demands. In a recent bout with Porky Flynn over in Brooklyn, Jack weighed 169 pounds and was so strong that he all but knocked the Boston brawler through the ropes for a long sleep. If Jack can make the figure he certainly should be given a chance at Gibbons.

McGoorty can probably make the weight with ease. And the Oshkosh entry has certainly proven that he is a contender.

So, if Mr. Gibbons will just go on and clean up the situation by disposing or exposing these two, the boxing game will have its first unquestioned 158 pound king since 1911.

TAX AMENDMENT MEETS APPROVAL

This One of Statesenberg Bills Understood to be Satisfactory to State Association

NOT WELL KNOWN OVER STATE

Provides That Legislature May Classify Property for Purposes of Taxation—To be Uniform

Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—Indianians who have heard the term "Statesenberg Amendments" used time and again in connection with the Indiana assembly and who will hear the term scores of times yet, were interested in the announcement that they would within the next few days come up for action before the legislature. There is an impression here that the state at large knows very little about these twenty-two proposed amendments to the constitution, which, if they are accepted one by one at this session and receive a majority at the polls at the next general election, will go into force as amendments to the constitution.

The United Press asked the following question of John A. Lapp, director of the state bureau of legislative information:

"What is the heart of the Statesenberg tax amendment—in plain language?"

Mr. Lapp's reply follows:

"The Statesenberg tax amendment provides that the legislature may classify property for purposes of taxation and fix an equitable tax upon each class. It aims to make it possible to place all property upon the tax duplicates at rates which each kind of property can afford to pay."

This amendment, it is said, meets the partial approval of experts on taxation in Indiana. The committee of forty of the State Tax Association refused to endorse it, but did so, it is said because it did not care to create the impression that its program was limited to this amendment or that it stood or fell with this amendment.

Governor Ralston in his message did not favor this amendment. He said under it "every legislature would be besieged to lower the rate on certain classes of property and to raise it on others, and at every session there would be an alignment of interests for a new classification—not unlike that the country witnesses at every revision of the tariff, with the result that often the victory would be with the strong."

The Governor commented on the fact that the words "uniform and equal" were left out of the amendment.

This amendment will, along with the other twenty-one, be opposed by the element which insists on a constitutional convention.

The amendment in full follows:

"Section 1, Article 10.—The General Assembly shall provide by law for the assessment of property for taxation and the raising of revenues thereby; and shall prescribe such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property, both real and personal, excepting such only, for municipal, educational, literary, scientific, religious or charitable purposes, as may be specifically exempted by law. In enacting laws for the assessment of property for taxation the General Assembly shall have the right to classify different kinds of property, and to provide for a different manner and basis of assessment and rate of taxation for each class."

KEEN INTEREST IN BASKETBALL

High School Students are Beginning to Keep Eye on Teams With Lookin for Championship

TOURNAMENT MARCH 5 AND 6

Plenty of Good Teams in State And at Present it is Toss up. Wingate Out

(By United Press.)
Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 3.—With the preliminary tournaments that are to precede the state tournament little more than three weeks distant high school basketball is beginning to assume greater interest and high school students over the state are beginning to keep an eye on the leading basketball teams in the state with a view of getting a line on the teams that will meet here on March 19 and 20 in the tryout for state honors.

From present indications, Wingate having lost the famous Stonebraker, will not be in the running. With only an ordinary team the twice state champions have felt the power of the little god of ill luck in the form of chicken pox. After getting started Wingate dropped a couple of games. The fact that they are located in the basketball center of the state will work against their prospects of getting into the finals. It looks as though Lebanon, or Crawfordsville will beat them out in the preliminaries. These two teams appear strong and almost on an equality.

Anderson, which reached the finals last year, is playing with a record of no games lost. Madison county boys have won from Marion, West Lafayette, Muncie, Hartford City and Newcastle. Newcastle was defeated only by a narrow margin and looks to be one of the strongest teams in the southeastern district.

In the southwestern district, Bloomington, Clinton and Salem appear to be leading.

In the northern part the leaders appear to be Akron, LaPorte, and Rochester. Whiting under the tutelage of Stockton, the former Purdue star, is a dark horse which must be considered.

Calver, like Wingate, seems to be having hard luck. Rossville and Thornton are also weaker than last year but still are strong enough to be considered. Shelbyville with eight consecutive games safely slowed away is going like wildfire. o-o-o-o goaO goa

Crown Point Objects to Noteriety Over Eugenics Bill

(By United Press.)

Crown Point, Ind., Feb. 3.—This city resents the publicity it is getting in connection with the "eugenics" marriage bill before the legislature at Indianapolis. Those who perform marriage ceremonies here insist that they observe the law in its spirit and letter. To refute the assertion that Crown Point is the haven for lovers from Chicago, they point today to a batch of marriage licenses printed here. Out of thirty-two licenses, the girl lived in Lake County in fifteen instances and in Chicago or an Illinois city in seventeen cases.

DUE TO LAX LAW ENFORCEMENT

What is Alleged to Have Been Crime

Against 14-Year-Old Girl Could Not Have Occurred.

WITH EUGENIC MARRIAGE LAW

Youthful Miss and Illinois Farm Hand Obtain License With Ease at Crown Point, Ind.

(By United Press.)

Crown Point, Ind., Feb. 2.—Authorities here are investigating what it is alleged, was a crime against a fourteen-year-old child, and which was allowed largely because of lax enforcement of Indiana's marriage laws. Had the new eugenics marriage bill been a law and in effect, it is said this illegal marriage could not have occurred in this city, which is one of the "Gretina Greens" of Indiana.

Fred Giroux, a farm hand of Kankakee county, Ill., eloped with Ida Pontow, 14, the child of E. J. Pontow. They went to Kentland, Ind., but a marriage license was refused them there by the county clerk, who the child's age.

"Little girl," he said, "you are just a school girl, and you had better go back home and to school."

The couple left Kentland, going to Crown Point, where the license was obtained without difficulty. Neither did the justice of the peace who performed the ceremony question the pair.

The states attorney here assured Pontow that he would prosecute Giroux on criminal charges if the latter is caught. He was called by phone from Kankakee and asked whether he would prosecute.

"You bet I will," he said vigorously. "I'm going to catch Giroux and give him all I can under the law." Giroux is about 30 years old.

The proposed eugenics marriage bill would force all males to present a physician's certificate of good health when applying for a license. This, it is said, would put the "marrying squires" out of business by making it inconvenient for eloping couples who must be married speedily to escape parents of those under age.

MATURED PULLETS MAKE GOOD LAYERS

Hens Which Lay Before Fall Usually Lay All During the Winter

Experts Declare.

SEND FOR A FREE BULLETIN

Pullets must be well matured before they will lay many eggs. Pullets that start to lay in the fall before cold weather sets in will, as a rule lay all winter, experts declare.

It is the early hatched pullets that produce the eggs in the fall and early winter, when prices are high. February, March and April are the months to do your hatching in order to secure early hatched pullets.

Yearlings and two-year-old hens do not lay many eggs in the fall, as they are molting at that time, and the feed they consume goes not only to keep up the energy and life of the birds, but also to put on or grow a new coat of feathers.

In properly matured pullets all surplus energy beyond that needed to meet the requirements of the body is available for the production of eggs.

Write the secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C., for free bulletin on poultry management.

BOTH PARTIES FAVOR MEASURE

Bill in Legislature Would Deny Officers Right to Employ Their Relatives.

NEARER THAN THIRD COUSIN

First Included State Offices But Was Amended to Take in Every Office in State.

If a certain bill now pending in the legislature becomes a law—and the indications are that it will—the practice of public officers in employing relatives as deputies and assistants will be stopped.

The measure is known as the Cleary bill. It was the subject of a lively little skirmish on the floor of the house. At first it was thought it would be lost but the debate developed not only enough strength to save it, but to amend it, giving it a scope much broader than it had in its original form.

In the form in which it was introduced by James F. Cleary, of Indianapolis, the bill made it unlawful for a state official to employ a relative nearer than a third cousin in his office. Before the debate had been concluded, the bill was amended on the motion of the democratic floor leader, John C. Branaman, of Brownstown, to make it applicable to every public office in the state.

When the committee on judiciary reported unfavorably on the bill, its author believed the measure was lost as he was under the impression that the majority leaders opposed it. The action of Representative Branaman and Niblack and other democrats in fighting for the measure was a surprise. The action of public officials in placing relatives in government jobs to the detriment of good government was criticised bitterly.

"I am in full sympathy with this measure," declared Representative Branaman. "We have viewed the disgraceful practice all over the state when officials have tried to hog the whole thing by providing their families with soft jobs. Some of these officials have tried to get their entire families on the payroll. You know in your party organization, whether it be Republican, Democratic or Progressive, what you have been forced to contend with on account of the wholesale employment of relatives. The only defect I see in this measure is that it does not go far enough. It should apply to every office in the state."

Representative R. C. Parrish, of Decatur, also supported the bill, declaring that the family pie counter has resulted in inefficiency in government. Representative Niblack supported the bill, paying a compliment to the measure, even though it originated on the Republican side of the House. He was applauded.

"I am heartily in accord with this bill," he declared. "It is a Republican bill by a Republican member. When I came here I resolved to vote on the right side of things. I think the right side of this question is to vote for this bill. It should be a pleasure for the Democrats to support such a laudable measure from the Republican side. There is nothing so sickening to the public as to have a gang of state officials constantly trying to dictate to the Legislature and trying to tell the public what it must do. There is nothing so sickening as to see some of the offices filled with relatives of the officials."

Representative James B. Strange of Marion and Alexander Fulton of Lagro, also upheld the measure. The unfavorable committee report was tabled and an amendment submitted by Floor Leader Branaman to make the bill apply to all offices was acted upon favorably.

If the bill gets by the senate and into the statute books, it will affect a certain number of job-holders in every county in the state. It is said that there is not a county in Indiana that does not have cases of public officers employing their relatives. Here in Howard county, at the present time, four county officers, the auditor, the clerk, the sheriff, and the treasurer, have relatives employ.

Public Sale..

The Daily Republican

"The Newspaper Everybody in Rush County Will Eventually Read"

To be a success must be well advertised. The more people who know of a sale the larger the crowd, resulting in more competitive bidding, higher prices for the stuff and more dollars in the holder's pocket. The Daily Republican goes into every town, community and neighborhood in Rush County, and has more paid subscribers than all the rest of the Rushville papers combined. Right now everybody is looking for and reading sale notices. They want to buy. The Republican's "Public Sales" advertisements tell them who is having a sale, when and where. Sale bills will always be used but their number is decreasing. Newspaper advertising is found to reach more people and when they are in a mood to read, and is getting more popular all the time. When a man holds a sale he expects to spend a few dollars in advertising it, but he wants results. Come in; we can "deliver the goods." "Red Head" sale bills and display spaces at a reasonable rate, and we give you prompt service.

LIBRARY SETS SOME RECORDS

would be equitable for the city to pay for the janitor work and support the library if the county would furnish the room in the court house
free of charge and furnish the heat and light. Since meters have been installed in the court house, it is said that some complaint is being heard from the county's side of the house.

It is pointed out that the lighting expense of the library amounts to very little because the library is open only one night each week, and that is Saturday night until only eight o'clock, when the court house is open anyway and the lights in the corridors are burning anyway. So the only extra light is that used in the library itself. The library used to be open on Wednesday nights only but that was stopped because people went into other parts of the court house. It has long been advocated that gates could be installed and prevent persons from entering the upper floors of the court house when it is open at night.

FLOOD THREATENED AT LOGANSPORT

Ice Jam in Eel River Last Night
Causes Portion of Business District to be Inundated.

THOUSANDS PANIC-STRICKEN

Logansport, Ind., Feb. 3.—Ice breaking up in the Eel River jammed at the Third street bridge here shortly before 6 o'clock last evening and in ten minutes a portion of the business district and a large area of the West Side residence district were under water. Thousands of persons were panic-stricken and began removing furniture to safety and in some instances fled precipi-tately before the rising water.

In Eel River avenue and Second street, fashionable residence districts, the water reached a height of several feet, flooding basements and extinguishing fires. The Barnett Hotel basement was flooded, and guests, fearing a repetition of the 1913 flood, fled in panic. Within half an hour the ice jam at the bridge broke up and the water rapidly receded from the streets. The downtown business streets are littered with great cakes of ice. Great damage has been done to stocks of goods in the basements of many of the business houses.

DECLARES IT IS A POLITICAL FIGHT

Seathing Denunciation of Bendel Bill to Abolish Boards of Works is Delivered in House.

CONDITIONS AT HUNTINGTON.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3.—Seath-ing denunciation of the Bendel bill, abolishing the present board of works in fourth class cities and substituting the mayor, the civil engineer and another at a saving in salary of $3,000 was made by Representative Linfield Meyers on the question of adoption of the minority report of the committee against the bill.

"This is a fight between Democrats and Republicans in Huntington that Bendel has had the nerve to bring down here," Meyers said. "The board of works in Huntington is now engaged in building a water and light plant and the Huntington Fuel and Light company is behind the scheme to abolish the board of works. The mayor is sick and the civil engineer is only 23. They would be unable to act properly."

POPULATION IS ON THE INCREASE

Number in State Nears 2,794,251,
According to Five-Year Estimate by the Census Bureau.

INCREASE OF 3.46 PER CENT

Estimate Prepared by Director of Census Reveals 850,899 Voters in Indiana.

Washington, Feb. 3.—On April 15, 1915, five years since the last decennial census, and midway until that of 1920, the estimated population of the state of Indiana will be 2,794,251, compared with 2,700,876 in 1910, an increase of 93,375, or at the rate of 3.46 per cent. for the five year period. The computations are made on the basis of the methods followed by the United States Census Bureau in promulgating its annual estimates.

Rather interesting is the description of the manner of making the annual estimates, as given in a letter from William J. Harris, director of the bureau of the census. He says:

"It is assumed that the annual increase each year since April 15, 1910, has been equal to the annual increase from 1900 to 1910. As, however, the number of months from June 1, 1900, to April 15, 1910, is 118.5, the computation is made on the basis of the increase for each month. In other words, the population in 1900, subtracted from that of 1910, and the remainder divided by 118.5, gives the increase for one month, and this multiplied by twelve gives the increase for one year. The arithmetical method is used by this bureau and not the percentage of increase."

The estimates given for the state are for April 15, rather than for July 1, the latter being the date of the annual estimates given out by the Census Bureau. This change is made for the reason that April 15 completes the five-year period since the last decennial census—the half way mark between that census and the coming one of 1920.

MATTER IS STILL UNDER ADVISEMENT

Records Do Not Show That County Commissioners Ever Acted on Treasurer's Office Request

CITY MADE PROPOSITION

The statement was made at the council meeting last night that the city had a lease for 99 years on the room in the court house now occupied by the city treasurer's office but there is nothing in the records to indicate that this statement is true.
There has been some agitation as to what right the city had in maintaining an office in the court house. The statement was made that the city entered into an agreement with the county whereby the city was to pay $100 and furnish water for the horse troughs on the court house square and in return was to get a lease on the room for 99 years.

The treasurer's office was moved to the present location during the Cowing administration, the change taking place in 1905. The only record available is where Harvey M.
Cowing, acting as mayor, filed a petition with the commissioners asking for the use of the room on the first floor of the courthouse. The record shows that the commissioners took the matter under advisement and as far as the record is concerned the commissioners still have it under advisement.

Mr. Cowing stated this morning that the commissioners and the city simply had a verbal agreement and that the office was placed there for convenience.

Bill Proposes Sunday Shows Should

COMMISSION PROVIDED FOR

Measure, if Passed, Would indirectly Appeal Present Law Regarding Sunday Performances

Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—The law prohibiting theatrical performances on Sunday would indirectly be repealed by a bill prepared for introduction in the house. The bill would however, place such a heavy tax on Sunday performances—one half of the gross receipts—that it is doubtful whether many other than picture shows could take advantage of it.

One-half of the receipts of Sunday shows of all sorts would go to charity, yet organized charity has indicated that it would not befriend the bill. Organized charity would not handle the money thus returned.
A committee of three appointed by the mayor or board of trustees of a town to hold office throughout the administration's term, would receive all funds and would apportion them for charitable purposes at their discretion, rendering an annual report to the mayor.

Productions of all sorts are named including the circus comedy, tragedy opera, ballet, farce, variety show, negro minstrelsy, acrobatic feats,
cane dance or moving picture show.
Those conducting the performance in violation of the proposed law would be subject to a fine between $25 and $100.

The scheme proposed is similar to that instituted by Mayor Bell during the past year. He appointed a committee. His move was opposed by organized charity for the reason the organization believed a committee working independently would duplicate work done by the organization.
